On Sunday afternoon the Friends of the Drama held open house at the clubhouse on Academy street, the occasion being a New Year party with the members' children and grandchildren as special guests. Mrs. David R. Kennedy graciously greeted the three-score children who were present, and then presided at the brief business meeting which preceded the entertainment.

The fascinating tale of Jack and the Beanstalk, presented by the clever cub scouts of Den 6, Pack 86, delighted the children and the grown-ups as well. Expertly manipulating marionettes which they had themselves constructed throughout months of painstaking work, the cubs put on a show of professional caliber.

Letter from Howie Clery

Warm Springs Foundation
Georgia
January 5, 1945

Hello, fellows and girls:

I want to thank you for being so swell to me. Running this dance and doing all the nice things you have done has meant a lot to me. When you are far from home it helps to know that the people you liked still think of you and I'm in spirit will all of you tonight.

I understand that the Infantile Paralysis Foundation is having their drive for funds during this month. Mr. Barker, the Arlington Chairman, has been a mighty fine friend to me, won't you help him so that Arlington will make their quota and in that way help any other boy or girl in Arlington who may be stricken with polio? One of your family may need treatment some day and if you do your share now, they will get the care they need. I am having it!

Again thank you and I'll be seeing you.

Sincerely,
(Signed) HOWIE CLERY.

Howard Clery, stricken with polio just before the first football game scheduled for the High School, was on the squad. He also played baseball on the Pirates in the Arlington Youth Association League. It is such boys as "Howie" that the "March of Dimes" will help. It is to the Infantile Paralysis Foundation that the proceeds of the A. Y. A. dance in the Town Hall tomorrow night will go. Tickets for the dance can be purchased at the High School and at the door. Adults can secure benefit tickets at the stores.

Friends to Give Victor Herbert's "The Only Girl"

On Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings of next week, January 16, 17, 18, and 19, the Arlington Friends of the Drama will offer to their members and guests something entirely different from anything they have ever done before. For-saking Gilbert and Sullivan for the time being, and responding to popular demand, the Friends will venture for the first time into the field of musical comedy, bringing to their stage Victor Herbert's "The Only Girl." The Friends' presentation has been somewhat modernized, to bring the dialogue of thirty years ago more up to date; but otherwise nothing has been done to impair the Victor Herbert flavor, and it will all be there for Victor Herbert lovers to see and hear—lovely, familiar lilting tunes.

Here's an Extra Expense you can actually Insure!

Suppose a fire—or similar misfortune—forced you to move out of your house or apartment. What then?

Immediately you would be faced with all sorts of expense. First, you'd have to find a temporary home. The way things are today, that alone might call for a rental twice as large as your budget could stand. You might even have to move to a hotel, in which case your living costs for meals, rent, laundry, etc., probably would triple.

Then there would be other expenses, such as moving or storing your furniture. Transportation to your office and sending your children to school might cost more too.

The answer is "Extra Expense Insurance." Even if you don't have to move as a result of the damage, this new policy will pay all additional living expense necessary to continue normal conduct of your household while repairs are being made!

The cost for the average home is less than $10.00 for three years. Can you afford not to carry this protection?

ALL THE OLD CLOTHES YOU CAN SPARE

We've had some uncomfortable weather here in Arlington the past few weeks. Even before winter officially began we were wading through snow and shivering in cold winds.

But there were none of us who were not shod in stout shoes with overshoes to protect our ankles from the wet. There were none of us who were not wrapped warmly against the wind in garments of wool and fur. And our homes, when we reached them, were cosily warm.

Winter has come to the devastated countries of the world, to Europe and to Asia, just as it has to us, but the people there have no warm clothes, no stout shoes and overshoes. They are in rags and barefoot. To them the clothes that we cast off bring comfort.

The Victory Clothing Collection which started this week and continues through January 31, gives us our chance to help them.

As typical of the heartbreaking appeals for clothing needed overseas, Henry L. Kaiser, national chairman of the collection, quoted a letter sent to him by Miss Clementine Miller, adviser of the International Division of Girl Scouts. The letter written by a member of a well-known literary family in France, reads:

"The nicest thing you could do would be to send me all the old clothes you can spare as I know how to sew for myself and my daughter. I can use any dress—evening or daytime—and make new ones from it. With felt hats, I can make house slippers. The men are always the most unfortunate and I assure you that the suits your father or brother no longer wear would give us great service. This is to say that the lack of cloth of any kind is simply frightful.

"If you have old shoes they would give us great service because we are walking about in wooden shoes and they are terribly tiring, and bruise and rub our feet.

"Winter clothes are what we need the most, anything warm. Woolen socks, if you have them—warm coats—ours are almost in rags, but we still wear them. As I am allowed to burn only one stick of wood each evening at 5:00 o'clock, you can understand that we are freezing in our tracks! What a nightmare is a winter without fire! Even hunger, with which we are too well acquainted, is nothing in comparison to the cold."

A CHANCE TO SERVE

The appeal of the Red Cross for nurse's aides, Gray Ladies and dietitian's aides offers an opportunity for worth while service to any one who has spare time.

"Unless more women come forth and unless former workers return to the hospital responsibilities they so loyally met during the wartime emergency, hospitals will face the possibility of closing an even greater number of beds and wards," Miss Harriet A. Robeson, chairman of Volunteer Special Services for the Boston Chapter, declared.

Miss Robeson pointed out that wards in three civilian hospitals have closed in the past three weeks, while others face a similar curtailment of essential services due to the lack of sufficient nurses and other professional, as well as non-professional, hospital personnel.

In addition to appealing to all eligible women of 18 years of age or over to serve the community in one of the worst situations existing since the war, Miss Robeson also directed a special plea to husbands to cooperate with wives who may wish to give their daytime hours in hospitals in this area. She pointed out that many women who would like to serve are prevented from doing so by the male members of the family.

"If husbands would encourage wives by helping them budget their household duties so that they may give one or two days a week as Red Cross volunteers, I feel sure the response would go a long way toward relieving this critical situation," she stated.

Immediate beginning of classes will take place next Monday at Boston Metropolitan Chapter headquarters. Volunteers may enroll in any one of the three types of Red Cross hospital services—Nurse's Aides for those who like to do actual physical nursing for patients, Gray Lady for women who will give service in the many non-nursing tasks necessary to the efficient operation of a large hospital and Dietitian's Aide for those who will help in the preparation and serving of special diets and foods.

The only qualifications necessary for volunteers are that they be 18 years of age or over, in good physical health and have a high school education or the equivalent. Enrollment may be made by calling Red Cross at Kenmore 6226 or applying at local Red Cross headquarters.

Why Not Plow Unfinished Streets?

To the Editor:

Having been a patient resident on an unfinished street for sixteen years, I wish to recommend that the rule that all finished streets be ploughed before the unfinished be changed. It is through no fault of residents that streets are unfinished and I can not see why they should suffer. During the war there was reason to put up with inconveniences. But with the war ended why, even though there is a shortage of help still, can not the entire section be ploughed instead of a repeat performance being made after finished streets are taken care of. It seems logical that one trip would take less time than two trips or maybe three trips.

This past storm was not too severe, but the writer was in the Center at noon when the snow was from 3 to 4 inches deep and there was no sign of an attempt to plough out. The storm started at 7 a. m. December 29. At 7 a. m. December 30, with the storm over nearly twelve hours, this unfinished street was still without a plough.

Too, why do unfinished streets have to go unsanded. To this writing five days after the storm there is nary a grain of sand on the street.

We pay the same taxes as finished street owners, why not have a few of the privileges. Impatient after sixteen years.

E. M. McLAUGHLIN.

Troop Ten Parents' Night

A highly entertaining meeting and Parents' Night was held last Monday evening by Troop 10 at the Calvary Methodist Church, the highlight being an address by Capt. Wilbur C. Ziegler, who served for many months as chaplain with a Mustang fighter group in England during the late war.

The program opened with several cornet selections by William Hamilton, which were well received. Scoutmaster Edward Willet then introduced Troop Committee Chairman Fay Graves who introduced the guest speaker.

Capt. Ziegler, a former Scout in Troop 8, made a big hit with the boys present, as he told many humorous experiences and some experiences not so humorous. His advice to the boys was, "Shoot for the stars in whatever endeavor you undertake. If you're going to be a Boy Scout, be the best Boy Scout in the business, and settle for nothing less than the Eagle rank."

Capt. Ziegler's talk was followed by a hilarious Camp Sackem skit featuring William Hamilton as "Ranger Joe," Troop Committee Chairman Graves and Capt. Ziegler were initiated into the exclusive Ranger Joe Club in a complicated ceremony that brought forth much laughter.

Refreshments of coffee, cocoa and doughnuts, served by the boys' refreshment committee, completed a most enjoyable evening.

FRIENDS TO GIVE

VICTOR HERBERT'S "THE ONLY GIRL"

such as "When You're Away, Dear," "When You've Got the Ball and Chain Around Your Ankle," "There's to the Land We Love," and "You're the Only Girl for Me,"—together with the gags and of course the eye-filling pony ballet which are a part of musical comedy. The production is under the direction of Edward W. Center, who has the expert assistance of Miriam Hendrick Cahalin for the dialogue and stage business, and of Helen Stinson Center for the dance routines. Mrs. Center not only is training the dancers, but she originated the dances themselves.

An outstanding cast has been selected to play "The Only Girl," headed by Ruth Olive, whose beautiful trained soprano voice has delighted Friends' audiences in several Sunday afternoon concerts. A newcomer to the Friends, Edward Millen, will play the male lead opposite Miss Olive, bringing to his role a fine baritone voice as well as an attractive appearance and an engaging personality. Supplying a good share of the comedy will be Anne Pickering, widely known as a professional comedienne whose original monologues have delighted audiences all over New England. Others who will sing and dance, as well as help unfold the story of "The Only Girl," are Helen Geary, Alberta Publicover, Parker Wood, Donald Sullivan, and Tom Roach. These five, together with Anne Pickering, play a trio of married couples whose troubles, solved and unsolved, form the plot of the musical. All of the six are experienced players, all are easy and natural in their parts, and their solos, quartets, sextets, dances and clever pantomimes, are a delight to listen to and to watch. George Pugh properly belongs with this group, since he serves them all as butler, and manages to look and act exactly right in the part.

Surely no more engaging soubrette could have been found for the role of Patsy than Carol Wilkins, the delightful little dancer of last year's "Lolanthe." Miss Wilkins has an abundance of youth and charm, and is in fact, so very good to look at that one is almost surprised to find that her appearance in no way tops her very real dancing talent. Created especially for her, her dances in "The Only Girl" show off this talent to the very best advantage. She has, in addition, a small but clear and true soprano voice. She is, in a short, definitely a young star of the much brilliance.

To select the six show-girls who form the chorus, the director scanned the club member not to announce in advance the ship with an eye for pulchritude, church in which each minister and the six young ladies who will be guest preacher.

A PLEDGE FULFILLED

The Annual Report to Stockholders of Boston Edison Company for the year 1941, issued early in 1942, contains this pledge:

"Until this war has been brought to a successful conclusion, the interests of our country and its allies transcend any and all other interests. Therefore, during this extreme emergency the entire resources of your Company, animate and inanimate, must be devoted primarily and unstintingly to cooperation with and acceleration of the great war effort. In doing this, however, neither inconvenience nor sacrifice should be imposed unnecessarily or ruthlessly upon our customers, employees or stockholders. Their interests must be given every consideration consistent with the Company's primary obligation to the country."

Volumes could be written on the manner in which Boston Edison Company fulfilled this pledge. During the 44 months of war which ended on V-J Day, this Company's resources, were "devoted primarily and unstintingly" to such cooperation. The high quality of Edison's war service is attested by the grateful comments of our customers. And meanwhile, the principal operating expenses—taxes, wages and fuel—increased 40 per cent, while revenues increased only 25 per cent. The Company absorbed these additional costs without increasing its basic rates.

Here are a few highlights in Boston Edison Company's wartime cooperation:

1. EVERY WAR DEMAND MET PROMPTLY. By the construction of new generating facilities, which was already under way before the outbreak of the European War in 1939, Boston Edison Company was in a position to meet the extraordinary demands of war industries. Between 1940, when the National Defense Program was launched, and 1944, the peak of war production, the Company's sales of electricity to industrial customers, measured in kilowatt-hours, increased more than 100 per cent. The manner in which the electric companies of America responded to the requirements of war industry has brought two significant tributes from high-ranking government authorities. Said the Chairman of the War Production Board, "Power has never been too little nor too late." Said a Vice-Admiral of the Navy, "When we asked for power we got power, and not—thank God—alibis."

2. EMPLOYEES MET THE TEST OF WAR. With 638 employees of Boston Edison in the armed forces, the Company began to feel the manpower shortage early in the war. The Company's personnel was reduced from 3300 in 1941 to 2600 in early 1945. Despite the handicap of having 600 fewer men and women at work, the Company nevertheless continued to meet every demand upon its facilities. Today more than 200 of our service men and women are back on the job. Twelve who gave their lives in defense of their country will not return; for their last great measure of devotion, we at Boston Edison shall forever be indebted.

3. ARMY AND NAVY "E" AWARDS. Since electric companies do not manufacture any article used directly in combat, they were not eligible for "E" awards. But the 62 large customers of Boston Edison Company who received Army and Navy "E" awards frankly admit that they could not have qualified but for the assurance they had at all times of ample and reliable Edison power. Certain shipyards, munitions factories and other war plants increased their power loads from 300 to 500 per cent over 1940, but Boston Edison met every such demand promptly.

4. UTILITIES WARTIME AID PROGRAM. Since early in 1942 the public utilities of America have worked in close cooperation with the armed forces for the most efficient use of available facilities. In the New England area, the Boston Edison organization was privileged to assume leadership in this work of patriotic cooperation. The services of highly trained engineers from New England utilities were at all times available to Army and Navy establishments, and the savings in time, money and manpower are incalculable.

5. CONFIDENCE IN BOSTON'S FUTURE. The management of Boston Edison Company has implicit confidence in the future of Boston and the 39 cities and towns of Greater Boston which are directly served by our lines. This area not only can hold its own in competition with other parts of the country, but it has potentialities for more rapid progress—its matchless harbor, its strategic geographical location for air transportation, the skill of its workers, the thrift of its citizens, the excellence of its educational opportunities, and its many other natural advantages.

For many years the stockholders of Boston Edison have been investing in that confidence and will continue to do so. In the next five years this Company plans to spend $40,000,000—increasing its generating capacity, extending its transmission lines, making alternating current available in direct current districts, and in other ways modernizing its facilities and service. Adequate electric service must precede, not follow, industrial development. General Motors was able to select a site in Framingham for its new assembly plant because five years earlier Boston Edison had brought additional power to that area with a new 110,000-volt transmission line. Those who are planning the industrial development of postwar Boston may proceed with confidence that electric power—the life blood of industry—will be "never too little nor too late."

STATE GUARD NEWS

After a two weeks vacation, Arlington Company turned out for Monday night's drill in full strength. If the truth be told, Arlington Company has been taking it easy since the time they won the Regimental Competition; going on momentum, as it were. Undoubtedly the men deserved a rest. However, it is realized that you can't get by on past glory forever. Accordingly, training will presently go into high gear. Close order drill, manual of arms, physical training, riot formations and rifle qualifications.

At this point it is well to remind some Arlington residents, age 17 to 50, that there are a few vacancies in Arlington Company, of which they can avail themselves Monday or Tuesday at 8 p.m. at headquarters in Old Town Hall.

Spang; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Clifford Cox; treasurer, Mrs. Glenn Owens; assistant treasurer, Mrs. Frank B. Savage; auditor, Mrs. Mortimer H. Wells; pianist, Mrs. Harold B. Seavey and Miss Mildred Sullivan; nominating, Mrs. Henry Guernsey; social, Mrs. Albert H. Perkins and Mrs. Curtis Keith; social service, Mrs. Frank Walker.

After the meeting had been opened by the president, the devotional exercises were conducted by Mrs. Frank B. Savage, with Mrs. Howard Cousins at the piano. The annual reports were heard and the following donations were voted: $50, to Red Cross; $25, March of Dimes. The Christmas collection of fifty dollars will be given to the Congregational Reconstruction Committee.

It was for this cause that the speaker of the afternoon, Rev. David G. Colwell, recently installed as minister of the church, made an especial appeal, presenting a plan for "sacrificial giving".

If Christianity is to survive respectability, he said, we must turn to the Bible and follow Jesus' teachings. Christianity cannot be so domesticated; it must become world-interested. If we are to justify ourselves for existing, we must give to these countries which are so devastated.

Pledge cards were distributed asking a pledge of a certain amount a week for a year, the money to be saved by giving up some luxury or pleasure. "I know," Mr. Colwell concluded, "genuine peace can only come when all men are bound as a common family, alive to each other's hurts and needs."

Each student is allowed to go ahead at his own speed on the course laid out by the state and is given individual help when he needs it. They have all started enthusiastically. Every one of them, says Miss Fitzpatrick, wants to study.

Students will continue to be admitted as long as they apply.

The responsibility and opportunity for assisting the families in Arlington to care for their sick in their homes has been a challenging one. The nurses made 7630 home visits. There was an attendance of 940 at the Baby Clinics. In fighting all sickness that menaces community health, public health nurses are usually the first line of defense and stand ready to meet all urgent needs.

Mrs. Llewellyn M. Evans was re-elected president of the association. Other officers were chosen as follows: first vice president, Mrs. Louis S. Chick; second vice president, Mrs. Benjamin F. Hickey; recording secretary, Mrs. Arthur Birch; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Marion O. Campbell; treasurer, Mrs. Frederick W. Hill; Directors—Mrs. John Bishop, Mrs. James W. ## P. T. A. Council to Cooperate in Censorship

The executive board meeting of the Arlington Council of Parent-Teacher Associations was held Monday at the home of Mrs. C. Wesley Johnson, 79 Claremont avenue, with the president, Mrs. Maurice P. King, presiding.

The council was enthusiastic in its praise of the recent editorials by both the Arlington News and the Advocate on the dangers involved for school-going children because of unpurged sidewalks after heavy snowfalls, particularly on main thoroughfares and near schools. The Council voted a letter of appreciation to each newspaper.

Mrs. Norman J. Griffin, president of the Arlington Woman's Club, was a guest, and in her talk portrayed a graphic picture of the indecent magazines being sold through thirty-five Arlington stores to young people. Mrs. Griffin pointed out that this literature was being sold in most cases with no thought of malice on the part of the proprietors. By enlisting the aid of the Parent-Teacher Associations in censoring this literature, this difficulty would no doubt be cleared up in short order. The council voted to cooperate with the Woman's Club and the Arlington Police Department. Committees will be set up at the Brackett, Hardy, Crosby, Locke, Pelce, and the Parmenter schools to censor this objectionable type of magazines in their respective communities.

A letter written by W. Dale Barker, chairman of the Infantile Paralysis drive in Arlington, appealing for cooperation from the Parent-Teacher Associations, was read.

Mrs. John Pitko, director of District Four, announced that the mid-winter conference would be held at the Hotel Statler, on February 1st, registration beginning at 9:30 a.m. A splendid all-day program has been planned; luncheon will be served at 1 p.m.

The next meeting will be a full council, the business meeting to be held at the Robbins Library Hall from 1:00 to 1:30 p.m. on February 28th. The Council will then proceed to the Perkins Institute for the Blind in Watertown to observe classes.

A pleasant social hour followed. Mrs. John E. Stafford, Jr., hospitality chairman, and hostess Mrs. C. Wesley Johnson provided the delicious refreshments. Mrs. Harold Lafayette and Mrs. Charles Larden assisted in serving.

The art corners for this meeting, under the direction of Mrs. Charles Frederick of the Art Committee, exhibited art work done by pupils from the second to the ninth grades, under the direction of Mrs. Marion I. Ford, supervisor of art in the Arlington public schools. This included original designs, cut paper designs, illustrations, spring flower arrangement, art appreciation, color design and also fabric design. Included was a Winter Scene by Douglas Ryerson, which was given a Certificate of Merit by the Jordan Marsh Company in the Scholastic Art Awards, and was awarded a place in the Massachusetts Regional Art Exhibition to select finalists for the National High School Art Exhibition, Fine Arts Galleries, Carnegie Institute, Pittsburgh.

Industrial Arts Exhibit
A most unusual exhibition of the work done in the Junior High Industrial Arts School, Mrs. E. M. Meserve, principal, was on display. Arlington may be justly proud of this school, which has become so successful in the work it is doing that it has received much publicity in the National Education Association, meeting in Boston. This school demonstrates the fine art of working together, which Dr. Overstreet advocated in his lecture. The school is not only outstanding in Massachusetts, but is attracting nation-wide publicity and has been copied extensively in many states.

The truly remarkable work done by these boys and girls included, hand-woven loom work (rugs, towels, bags, etc.), posters with beautiful free-hand lettering, fancy boxes made of newspaper, animals made from newspapers and paste (waste material), dolls and toy animals also made from waste materials of cloth, leather, fur, etc., linoleum block prints, patch work for quilts, and many other artistic articles. Mrs. A. K. Brown is the teacher of Arts and Crafts. W. C. Donovan is in charge of the woodwork, which includes book-ends, jig-saw maps, bookcases, footstools, wall shelves, tables, etc., as well as both wood and electrical repair work in the school and at home.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED
Announced recently was the engagement of Miss Florence Mira Moody, daughter of Mrs. Moses L. Moody of Oxford street and the late Mr. Moody, to Louis C. Pfister of Philadelphia, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Pfister of the same city.

Miss Moody is a graduate of Simmons College. Mr. Pfister received his degree from Temple University and was recently released from active duty after four years in the service, 30 months of which was spent overseas, first in the Caribbean area and later as an officer of the Fifteenth Air Forces in Italy.

AMERICAN LEGION NEWS
The first meeting of the new year for Arlington Post 39, was held on Tuesday. There were two interesting speakers who gave short talks on the Blood Donor Committee work and the program of the American Legion for the coming year. Charles E. Nelson, who is department chairman of the Blood Donor Committee, was the first to be presented, giving an up-to-date account of the works and needs of this most worthy cause. The second speaker was Dept. Vice-Commander John J. Sullivan, who gave a resume of the A. L. program for the next twelve months. A collation was served after the meeting.

The second meeting of the month will be held on Tuesday, January 22nd at 8:15 p.m. Guest speaker for the evening will be Major John J. Dugan, chaplain of the Cushing General Hospital, a hero of Corregidor and survivor of the "Bataan Death March." After this talk, a collation will be served.

—Miss Leonora Curcey is a member of the judicial board of the Boston University college of physical education for women, (Sargent) which directed and participated in the Twelfth Night vesper service held Sunday afternoon at the college.

—The police scout car crew took to Symmes Hall Thursday afternoon, eleven-year-old Fabian DeCarpi of 93 Crescent Hill avenue. He was treated for a cut on his chin received while he was coasting.

—The speaker, in conclusion, emphasized the fact that education must not stop with graduation from high school or college, and added, "Life cannot dare to stop growing. Old and young, together, must meet the challenge of the world to work together in action."

He then referred to the playing of Norman Wilson's original composition, put into action by the entire high school orchestra, saying this was a thrilling spectacle of youth working together through action. He paid tribute to the young people in the orchestra. "We can easily leave Destiny in the hands of these 'kids'."

The speaker, in conclusion, emphasized the fact that education must not stop with graduation from high school or college, and added, "Life cannot dare to stop growing. Old and young, together, must meet the challenge of the world to work together in action."

TO START RELIEF FUND FOR ARLINGTON FIREMEN

manner of raising and distributing public contributions for such relief as might be necessary and proper. In brief, it was concluded that a permanent (rather than temporary) fund should be started to be managed by and for the benefit of the firemen in this community. Chief Tierney has been consulted about the matter, and as a result, the Arlington Firemen's Relief Association Inc. is now in existence.
The Arlington Touchdown Club is undertaking to get this fund started by voluntary contributions. A general public appeal, rather than personal solicitation, seemed the better way of accomplishing this project, and it is our desire to reach as large a portion of the citizens of Arlington as is possible through the various community organizations.

We are therefore providing you herewith a quantity of envelopes which we would like to have you distribute to your members in order that they may enclose and forward their contributions in this public expression of appreciation. It is proposed that the period of subscription be of one month's duration in order to permit a return from all of the organizations within the town, many of which meet only once a month. Contributions should be made to The Arlington Firemen's Relief Association Inc., and forwarded to The Arlington Firemen's Relief Association, Arlington Fire Department - Headquarters, Arlington 74, Massachusetts. If a receipt is desired, kindly enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope for that purpose.

Please do not feel that small contributions are not welcome.
A modest contribution by many is far superior to a large contribution by only a few.
Such a fund will make possible in the future the providing of additional help when and where such aid is required, and being managed by the firemen themselves for the benefit of all, an equitable distribution will be assured.

We would greatly appreciate it if the members of your organization could make their contributions NOW!!
Thanking you for your cooperation, we remain
